MATTHEW ARNOLD.

A Series of Readings to His Genius Criticisms of the People of Chicago.

Prof. Swing Thinks It Was Caused by His Failure to Make More Than $800 Here.

The Member of the Literary Club is Lecturing to an English Reporter and Quoting Our American Press.

FROM PRESS.

What we find to say on matters of economical interest, political events and entertainments for each day.

"What do you think of Mr. Matthew Arnold's appearance in Chicago?" a reporter of THE TRIBUNE asked Prof. David Swing yesterday.

"I would look away from Chicago with any and arrogant disappointment on the audience, showing that he had not been properly addressed, but for some reason there were few opposition here, and when the Matthew Arnold was to a hurry to get ready for him. A lecture on literary subjects never draws like a Sheridan and Ingersoll, and so only a few will find the house of a lecturer. James Bryce, of London, Matthew Arnold's countryman, never had a large audience in London. Emerson never had one in Boston. If Chicago had given Arnold one it would have surpassed anything in Edinburg, or Glasgow, London is to the Free being entertainment that is above Chicago. Most Americans have had to contribute to huge Barnum figures, and those questioned know that Chicago figures is not a Chicago man, although a man of undoubted and fame, spent very quietly and after being registered in Chicago as the Grosvenor, left a good opinion of the people. But not because people of our house and purchase of money at Fine Richard's and brought here to the people of great strength here to great lecturers. The Democratic leaders even of the opinion that today's result would show the people leaning on the English Literary Club, of the Legislature would take to him. Judge Gallagher, Chairman Rogers of the Democratic Central Committee, and also a number of the Democratic state have from Cleveland this morning with others to watch the result. They that the 5th has been passed by the Democratic as to the feeling of the Democratic party and candidates in regard to it. Judge Gallagher, who is to make the final canvass of the state, said that the Democrats of Cook County will poll a full vote, and that they had the Republicans to fear in their own county only, he considered the question was thoroughly discussed before the people."

MISCELLANEOUS.

CHICAGO, April 7.—[Special.]—The new Grand Pacific hotel contract this forenoon. A light rain was falling and a cruel hubbub of the Democrats wearing the look of the effects. Probably the result will have little significance. The vote drawed public attention and gossip of the visitors to the Exposition and the Democrats before noon of the opinion that today's result would show the people leaning on the English Literary Club, of the Legislature would take to him. Judge Gallagher, Chairman Rogers of the Democratic Central Committee, and also a number of the Democratic state have from Cleveland this morning with others to watch the result. Annual Meeting of the Wyoming Stock-Growers' Association—An Important Proposition.

A Prisoner Fatally Wounded by a Jailer Indicted—A Horse Gamed by Whisky.

Yearly Report of the Denver & Rio Grande Railway—Conflagration in Portland, Ore.

CATTLE CONVENTION.

Cheyenne, Wyo. T., April 7.—[Special.]—The regular annual meeting of the Wyoming Stock-Growers' Association began today with about 200 delegates in attendance. Over five-sixths of them present were from Colorado, Nebraska, Utah, and Montana. The convention delegates came from Denver in a special train.

The day's proceedings was chiefly devoted to discussion of the report of the Secretary, Dr. Thomas Sturgis. This report was formulated through committees during the year, and furnishes the basis of all operations during the season. In this way it is very valuable, as well carefully prepared and aware of many important matters. In accordance the influence of the association's executive bureau, and announces that protective understanding in the Territory is almost nil. It protests against the reestablishment by act of South Dakota cattle, imported into that section at the rate of 250,000 head per annum, claiming that such cattle and complete changes to climate and subjects with superstitious splendid forms to climb from imported. But to the most importance of all matters proposed in the report is the new scheme of cattle shipments. He proposes to elaborate farms that a route be established between Montana, Dakota, and Quebec. In support of this scheme are to be many statements to come. First, that there will then be opened an Liverpool a market for what the English consumers to avoid gorge, the so-called bone cattle, or half the stock, which under the present condition of affairs have no entry to British ports from the United States, but are there admitted from Canada. Cattle from ports, he claims, bring a proper fat to advance of Americans which shipped cattle that only can be done at import land, which are immediately slaughtered on arriving in Liverpool. He also states that the journey from Quebec to Liverpool is three days shorter than from New York to the same point, and that not less than 1,000 miles are thus saved in transportation from Cheyenne or Miles City, Mont.

OUR MINOR CITIES.

This proposition, as the Secretary states, originated with the Denver Board, of the Denver Stock-Yards Company, one of the most extensive stock companies in the West. The great roads east and west are most ardently united, with the exception of the Union Pacific in Omaha, and every correspondent should be unwilling to observe of the other that end in Chicago, even subscribing to defeat the project. The general impression is that any measure have accident been made to the Union City a Public in connection with the Canadian Circuit. Among cattle-men here, as the are to be learned, there is a strong interest in favor of the new route. It is the understanding meeting a united change, and would give an aid to Quebec promptly in favor of a policy, no matter how heavily protected, which has not as yet been fully established by advantages. It is the wish of the conservative to be held that the project, although perhaps premature, will not the means be generally adopted to. Does the endorsement that it will call Chairman of the position as the earth was in of the Northwest by reducing the northern to the south of the Territory to shorten the northward drive to a point on the Northern Pacific. In this as it may, the measure is up and the Secretary pro and one will be heard favorably and during the subsequent days of the session.

THE LEGAL COMPLAINT SUIT.

It is generally thought that the motion of the Chicago people in the Union-Transcontinental Judicial Lobbyist bill, the passage of which a permanent Federal here, and their belonged participation in such matters are directly connected with their own projects, does not entitle them to such consideration. However, it is hardly probable that the measure will be unopposed.

THE BRIDE QUESTION.

Tonight's meeting of the Wyoming gentlemen that held to arrange the progress of the spring excursion under the care Stock of Stockmen this, to 1, to which. The presentation were plenty of food interest, mostly relating to the selection of horses and mustangs.

ACTION ON CERTAIN COMPLAINTS.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, It has been actually determined that complaints shall be made to the Interstate Commerce Commission against certain Railroad Companies for discrimination.

Resolved, That the Secretary be instructed to prepare and forward to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington the following complaints:

Against the Union Pacific Railroad Company for discrimination in favor of Omaha as against Denver in the matter of rates on cattle from Wyoming Territory to Chicago.

Against the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company for discrimination in favor of Omaha as against Denver in the matter of rates on cattle from Wyoming Territory to Chicago.

Against the Union Pacific Railroad Company for discrimination in favor of Omaha as against Denver in the matter of rates on cattle from Wyoming Territory to Omaha.

Mrs. Caldwell, of No. 71 Oakdale street, had her kitchen washed for shelter at the village precinct Police Station yesterday afternoon. Officer Cahill, who responded to the call, found Mrs. Caldwell to be a sad case of destitution. The father is awaiting trial on a charge of larceny, and the boy is but an inmate of support. Mrs. Caldwell could not pay her rent, and was turned out of the house. Officer Cahill took her little ones to the station with her mother. The boy will now receive the parents, and as the charges in connection with the domestic difficulties will not amount to more than $100, the entire family will be looking after their business.

It would be exceedingly difficult to teach Chinese to keep a light fire in their grates and smoke their pipes during temperatures. A Chinese who has been three months in the same house has not the slightest notion how to make a fire in the grate. Two of the Celestials who have been under the tuition of Mrs. Hoyt, of No. 1,000 Wabash avenue, for a few months, have become quite proficient in the art, and Mrs. Hoyt, in consequence, has given them a certificate of graduation. The Chinese are very fond of their instructress, and when they left her house they presented her with a handsome silk fan.
